SEPTEMBER 2005

Sarah Knowlton, Health Law Educator

Sarah Knowlton, an attorney with McLane's Corporate Department, has been teaching Health Law in New England College's Master of Science in Administration program. Earlier this year, Sarah taught Health Law to students enrolled at the program at Frisbie Memorial Hospital in Rochester and Wentworth Douglass Hospital in Dover. She will be teaching at other seacoast hospitals in the near future.

New England College provides this innovative Master's degree program, with a specialty in Health Care Administration, on site at hospitals throughout New Hampshire. The Health Law course covers a broad range of topics, including confidentiality, the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act, compliance with Stark and anti-kickback requirements, risk management in the health care setting, public health law, and admission, discharge, and emergency care issues. Prior to joining McLane, Sarah advised the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta, Georgia, on a broad range of legal issues. For more information about this course, or Sarah's health law practice, please contact her at (603) 334-6928 or at sarah.knowlton@mcclane.com.

McLane Welcomes Five New People

Kermit Zerr is a 1995 graduate of Linfield College and a 1999 graduate of Washington College of Law, American University. He rejoins McLane after three years in Nevada followed by private practice in New Hampshire. He concentrates in the areas of business, real estate, land use and immigration law, and represents entrepreneurs and businesses in all phases of their existence. Kermit is a member of the New Hampshire Bar Association, the American Immigration Lawyers Association, Business Network International, and the Conservation Commission of the Town of Bedford.

McLane welcomes the following recent law school graduates, all of whom sat for the New Hampshire Bar in July, 2005.

Alicia Rineer is a graduate of Université de Paris VII, Duke University and Duke University School of Law. She joins McLane's Corporate Department from Children's Legal Services in Boston where she was a summer clerk in 2004. She has also clerked at law firms in Geneva, Switzerland, and Boston, Massachusetts.

Joel Emlen graduated from Illinois State University and Vermont Law School. He joins McLane's Litigation Department after working as a summer associate at McLane in 2004. Prior to law school, Joel worked in Illinois as a recruiter for technology sector jobs.

Steven J. Dutton graduated from Bates College and Brooklyn Law School. He joins McLane's Litigation Department after his work as a summer associate with a New York law firm. In 2004 he was a law clerk at the U.S. District Court in Brooklyn, and the Essex County Superior Court in Newark. Prior to law school, Steven spent several years as a track official for the New Hampshire Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Adam Hamel is a graduate of Salem State College and New England School of Law. Adam comes to McLane's Litigation Department after his work as a judicial intern at the Massachusetts Supreme Court and the Suffolk County Superior Court. He was also research assistant to Attorney Neil L. Chayet for "Looking at the Law" which airs on WBZ Radio. Prior to law school, Adam worked within the educational publishing industry in the Greater Boston area.

Leadership Seacoast Changes Leadership

Attorney Tony Delyani of McLane's Portsmouth office, recently concluded a three-year term as President of the Board of Trustees of Leadership Seacoast. With Tony at the helm, Leadership Seacoast successfully transitioned to an independently administered, not-for-profit organization, and elected a new program director following the retirement of the organization's long-standing program director. Tony is succeeded by Alison Pyott of Citizens Funds in Portsmouth.
